Foreword

Declarations are communications. They are positive and forceful messages given with intent. Some declarations we fear for we anticipate their consequence. Some we welcome for they satisfy our wants. To some we are passive and we see them as irrelevant. To some we respond because of the one who declared it.

All declarations of our day, political, religious, social or material are limited. They are bound by time and place, by ignorance and finiteness, by passions and purposes. There is a declaration that is not limited by these.

This declaration of the Glory of God is the satisfaction of everyman's need. It is scribed on an infinite parchment in a language intelligible to everyman's intellect. Only the sightless will refuse its witness. Only the deaf will resist its sound. "The Heavens declare the Glory of God."

The heavens by their very nature express the Glory of God the Creator. They are the work of His hands and the fruit of His thought. The heavens by their very purpose resounded the announcement of the Glory and first coming of God's Son our Savior. One day, the heavens will echo the trumpet sound and her corridors will welcome the reunion of the Sovereign and His subjects.

Our great God has clothed Himself with His heavens. The Beacon Staff would remind us again of this declaration through the title of the 1963 Beacon, "The Heavens Declare The Glory of God." Ps. 19:1

Ron,
I sure think you're sweet, hope you stay that way, you're neat too. Have loads of fun all your life.
Dumb Frosh,
Sherry

Dedication

All of God's works declare His own glory, nature, and purpose. Not only the infinite scrolls of the heavens but God's own children are "manifestly declared to be the epistle of Christ . . . written not with ink but with the Spirit of the living God, not in tables of stone but in the fleshly tables of the heart."

Phoenix Christian High School has not been untouched by such living epistles. To one such epistle we of the Beacon Staff of 1963 dedicate this book. To you, Mrs. Alice Haeberle, we dedicate this 1963 Beacon. You have been to us an epistle of faithfulness and graciousness. Your life at Christian High has sanctified the pen and ledger, the debits and credits, the office and bookstore. You have made the menial tasks a memorable service.

Thank you for being a legible letter of Christ to us.

Administration

And then shall they see the Son of man coming in the clouds with great power and glory.

ALBERT B. CRANDALL

Superintendent

To be a leader one must be a server. Because Mr. Crandall is serving God first, he is serving the faculty and student body here at Christian High.

We can be sure that the job of superintendent has many burdens and pressures but we know that it is rewarding in that he has a place in the foundations of the structures that we are "building for eternity."

Board of Directors

The Board of Directors plays an important role in the function of Christian High. We can see a fullness in the work that they do which can be accredited to their different backgrounds and varied personalities. In spite of these differences they are united by their love for Christ and by their aim to see His work done through P.C.H.S. We are grateful to them for their dedicated service and interest in the school.

Beacon Staff

We the Beacon staff have done a lot of hard work and had a lot of fun putting this yearbook together for you, the student body. We have tried to carry out our theme and impress upon you the fact that "The Heavens declare the glory of God." We hope that we have accomplished our purpose in putting out a yearbook of which Phoenix Christian High School can be proud.

Ad Staff

Although the Beacon staff worked hard to produce this yearbook, the Ad staff also had a part. Without the sale of ads, this book would not be possible. The responsibility of the Ad staff was to sell ads to the various businesses of the community. In doing so, they also had the opportunity to represent Phoenix Christian High School and the Lord. To be a member of Ad staff, a student must be responsible and maintain a high grade average.

To be a member of the National Honor Society, a student must be outstanding in the areas of leadership, scholarship, service, and character. In addition to this, a student must maintain a grade average of a "2" or better every nine weeks. It is indeed a privilege and an honor to be a member of the National Honor Society.

The Dad's Club is an organization which is composed of the fathers of students and of previous students of P.C.H.S. This year they undertook the project of purchasing new roll-away bleachers for the gym. We are very proud of these men who have donated their time and abilities for the benefit of the school.

Pep Club cheering for another touchdown.

The Pep Club is an organization of girls whose chief interest is to promote and maintain school spirit. They can usually be seen at the football and basketball games in their bright green jumpers and clean white blouses cheering the Cougars on to victory. This year the club sold mums at Homecoming as one of their projects, and they also marched with the band. Making posters for every game and having various types of sales belong on their list of projects. Any Pep Club member on campus will tell you that being a part of this club is worth all the work and time that each member gives.

Lettermen's Club

To become a member of the Lettermen's Club is one of the greatest honors a boy interested in sports can achieve. He must fulfill the needed requirements to earn his letter, but when he does he is the proud owner of a grey sweater which shows his accomplishments. One can see these boys all over the campus helping to promote good sportsmanship and school spirit.

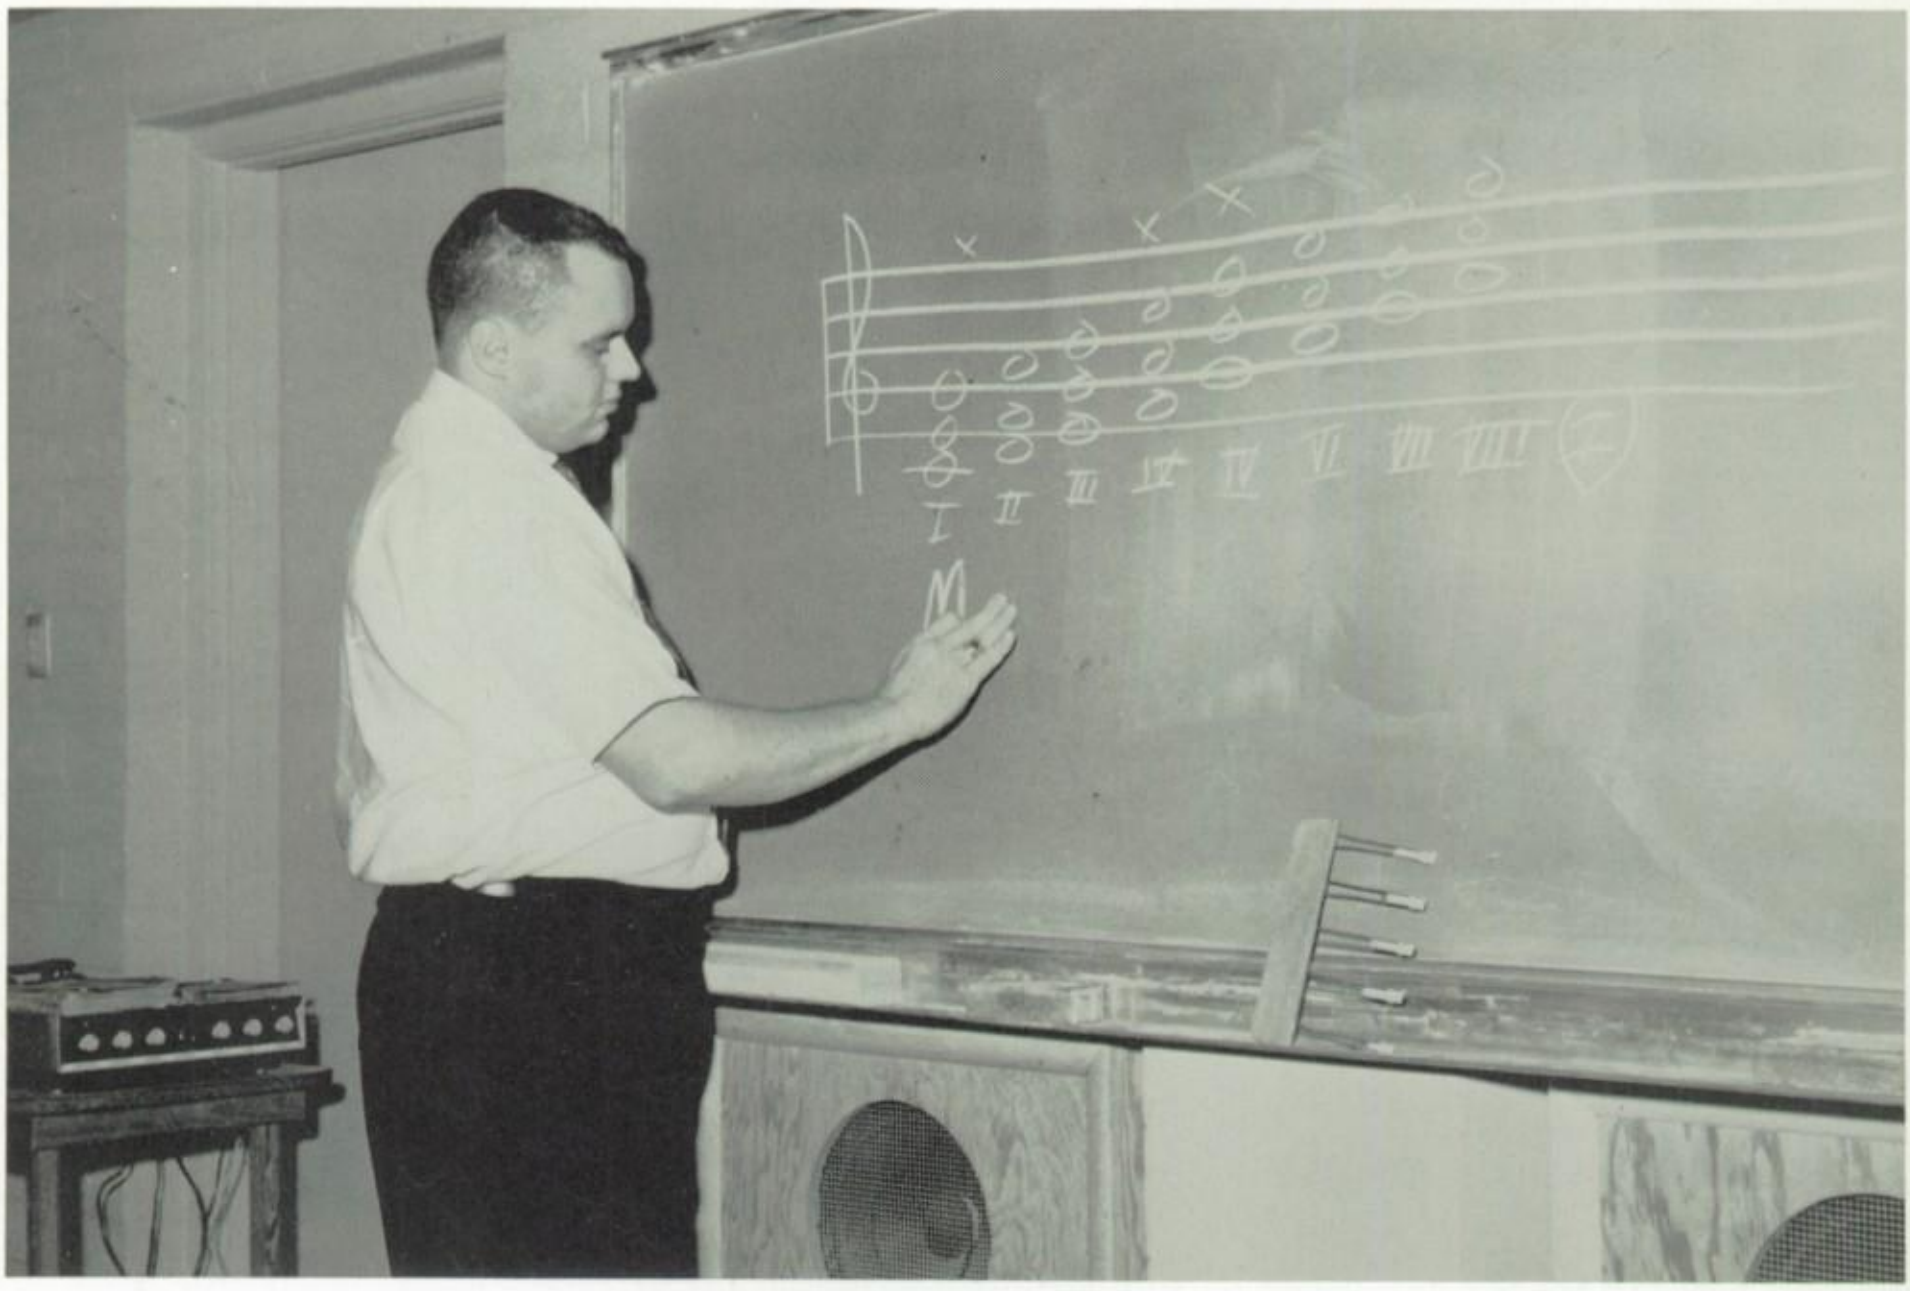
Music

"When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained: What is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him?"

Psalm 8:3-4



Mr. Thompson points out a theory to his music classes

"One seldom meets a man who fails at doing what he likes to do." Mr. Gene Thompson, as head of the entire music department, has led the different music groups in many activities this year. He directed the band which marched in the annual Phoenix Rodeo Parade. A Cappella Choir was also under his direction. They presented vesper programs and sang in several Phoenix churches. The Choral Club, under his direction, sang in Chapels and Vespers. In addition, he taught General Music.

We look back on a difficult season of basketball. It was not wanting in fight and excitement but the scoreboard was consistently against us. This was the year to build. We have confidence in Coach Lindsey and his ability to coach the Cougars and build a team. He and the team are to be commended on their ability to fight right down to the wire; in face of defeat they were determined.
